We track and rank a cross section of about 65 Fidelity funds monthly by C, the risk-adjusted relative strength metric. We buy and hold the three top funds. In addition, we rank Fidelity bond funds.

After at least a three-month hold, we either stay with the buys or sell the laggards and buy the new leaders. This is a proactive rotational allocation strategy. The funds and ranks are shown on pages 2 and 4.

The right side of the top table above shows the Fidelity Funds Portfolio at month end. The left side shows new trades upcoming for the month and past trades from previous months.

The lower table above shows the Fidelity Portfolio compared with the three World Indexes.

The chart and tables show the back tested results of buying the top three Fidelity Family funds as measured by C, holding for at least 90 days, and rotating out of the laggards into the leaders on an ongoing continuous basis. On the chart, C-lect 3 Fidelity is the blue line following a rotation strategy, VWELX (Vanguard Wellington), a balanced fund, is the red line following a buy and hold approach, and SPY (S&P 500), a domestic large cap ETF, is the green line following a buy and hold approach. The period is from 1/1/1993 through 9/30/2015. Account start values were $100,000. No additions or subtractions were made thereafter.

While buying and selling based on C, the risk-adjusted relative performance metric, over the years and decades in the back test produced superior results, in any one year the C ranking may or may not outperform the markets. This may be due to increased market volatility in that year.

For the test, one fund's sell amount rebalanced all funds held, though in real time, one sell buys one fund for about the same dollar amount.

The same funds were used for the whole back test.

Dividends are reinvested.

Taxes are not considered.

Information does not take into account your personal situation.

Past performance does not guarantee future performance. There is no assurance that future periods will be equivalent or similar to past periods. In a back test, there is no guarantee that actual trades could actually be made at the actual prices. All investments have risk; you may lose principle when investing. There are no guarantees. Read the fund's prospectus.

We are beginning a Fidelity Bond Portfolio focused only on bond funds from Fidelity. Watch for a Special Report for details.

This portfolio will officially start on 1/1/2017, but we are beginning to invest it based on bringing the back-test results into real time. The "sell eligible" column reflects the buys and sell dates. As sells come up and buys are made with the proceeds, the portfolio will become more fully invested.

Please note that the funds are ranked within their own pool. So a fund in this pool above may rank differently or have a different C rank than its rankings in the page 2 pool made up of a cross section of equity, bond, and balanced funds from Fidelity.

ETF Altrntv is the ETF alternative to its mutual fund, if available.

Sell Eligible is the earliest date from purchase that the fund may be sold to avoid broker short-term redemption charges. For Fidelity, it is three months (90 days), though Fidelity itself requires 60 days. If there is a green highlight, it means the fund was part of the back test. If there is a date, it means the portfolio owns the fund and it is the earliest date the fund may be sold, assuming a minimum of a three-month hold.

Legend shows fund specific information. It is a short list of where the fund is available for purchase (F is Fidelity, S is Schwab, T is TD Ameritrade). C means the fund is closed. R means the fund may charge a short-term redemption fee.
